The University of Dallas is now accepting applications for a tenure track faculty position:

POSITION: Assistant Professor, Tenure track
DEPARTMENT: Department of History
SUMMARY: The Department of History at the University of Dallas, a Catholic liberal arts institution featuring an extensive core curriculum for undergraduates, invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position with a specialization in the history of modern and contemporary Latin America (excluding Mexico). The optimal candidate will have an emphasis on the social and economic history of South America and will have language competence in both Spanish and Portuguese.

The position begins fall 2015. The teaching load is 3 undergraduate-level courses per semester. In addition to teaching in the area of specialization, the successful applicant will have responsibility for sections of the university’s American Civilization sequence. An ability to teach the second semester of the university’s Western Civilization survey is also highly desirable.

REQUIRED KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND ABILITIES: Ph.D. required by date of employment. Better candidates will have a substantial record of teaching in the relevant subject areas.

COMPENSATION: The salary for this full time position will be based on experience and qualifications within an established pay range. Benefits include eligibility to participate in medical, dental, life & disability insurance; tuition waiver benefit; and cafeteria and retirement plan contributions as described in the employee handbook.

EMPLOYMENT ELIGIBILITY: All new employees must provide documented proof of their identity, employment eligibility, and pass a criminal background check.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES:
Please mail in hard copy a cover letter, c.v., three letters of recommendation, and a one-page statement on the meaning and purpose of liberal education and how that understanding bears upon the candidate’s intellectual concerns. Send to
