Federal Student Financial Aid Penalties for Drug Law Violations

If students are convicted in court of any incident involving the use or possession of illicit drugs and were receiving certain federal financial aid at the time of the offense, federal law mandates that the student lose eligibility for federal student financial aid and would have to meet certain requirements in order to have the aid reinstated in the future. The federal programs covered by this rule include the following: (1) Pell Grants, (2) Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG), (3) Direct Loans, (4) Perkins Loans, and (5) Parent Plus Loans.
