Constantin

Job Number:6775UD
Date Posted:05/01/2019

JOB DESCRIPTION

The University of Dallas, Constantin College of Liberal Arts, Mathematics Department invites applications for a one-year, visiting position to begin August of 2019. Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any area of computer science or computational mathematics, broadly interpreted. The teaching load for this position is three courses per semester, drawn from the computer science and mathematics curricula, and will include at least three computer science courses over the year.

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES

The successful candidate will teach three courses each semester to support both the computer science major and coursework in mathematics. The candidate is responsible for preparing for each class meeting, leading classroom discussion, grading assignments and exams, and assigning grades in each course. In addition, the candidate will hold regular office hours and attend monthly department meetings.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENT

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in any area of computer science or computational mathematics, broadly interpreted, by Fall 2019.

APPLICATION

Applications for the position should be made online at <https://hr.udallas.edu/apply/> and must include a cover letter indicating your interest in the position and your qualifications to teach both computer science and mathematics courses; a curriculum vitae; a statement on teaching; and two letters of recommendation, at least one of which addresses teaching. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. The University of Dallas is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.
